TICKETNETWORK COMPLETES 1.4 MEGAWATT SOLAR INSTALLATION ON SOUTH WINDSOR HEADQUARTERS ROOF

South Windsor, Conn (October 23, 2019) – TicketNetwork, a leading software development company in the ticket resale marketplace, today announced the latest step in its ongoing Green Initiative, deploying a state-of-the-art solar array on the roof of its Connecticut headquarters. The event was attended by Senator Saud Anwar and South Windsor’s Mayor Andrew Paterna among other state representatives. The 1.4 Megawatt (MW) array, which was completed in the spring of this year, will offset nearly 70% of the company’s annual energy use and dramatically reduce its carbon footprint.

“It is a goal of ours to be a good neighbor and environmental steward in all aspects of our operations,” says Don Vaccaro, TicketNetwork CEO. “This project is a big step in our continuing goal to minimize our consumption and be a role model within our community and beyond.”

The system, developed by national solar solutions provider, EnterSolar, features 4,365 solar panels and covers nearly 200,000 square feet – the bulk of available space on the roof of the TicketNetwork headquarters building. Among the largest of such installations in central Connecticut, the solar array is expected to pay for itself in energy savings in approximately three and a half years, with environmental benefits that will last decades.

The system will offer significant benefits to TicketNetwork and the greater Connecticut community at large. Among the annual environmental benefits are:

- Greenhouse gasses avoided: 1.5 million pounds CO<sub>2</sub>
- Fuel use avoided: 78,000 gallons of gasoline
- Comparable impact: Nearly 18,000 trees grown for a decade
